of thoughts and style for novelty and quaintness by these poets.

Their wish was to say what they hoped had never been said before.

They played in display of wit, far fetched images and hyperbole.

Metaphysical poets wrote love poems that exhibited their cynical attitude towards fair sex, the joys of conjugal love and Platonic love too.

In 20th century, T. S. Eliot reviewed Metaphysical poetry by calling a fruit of passionate thinking. He wrote, "A thought of John Donne was an experience." and admired their talent by saying that 'the figure of speech elaborated the farthest stage which is carry it in 'Metaphysical Poets'.

(iii) Anglo-Indian Literature:-

Strictly speaking, Anglo Indian literature is a branch of English literature, produced by English men who lived in India at least for some time. It is a literature of Empire, a product of British encounter with India, to put it in simple words, it is a product of two different cultures that came to contact with each other one from west and other from east.

E. F. Oaten had observed regarding main themes "The first ever present sense of exile; the second an interest in Asiatic religion, the third humour side of Anglo-Indian official life, and fourth Indian native life and scene."

Anglo-Indian Literature had its greatest author in Rudyard Kipling who received Nobel prize for Literature.

The first few decades of 20th century can be considered as the golden age of it.

However Anglo-Indian Literature died its natural death with independence of India. Works on India may still be written by British author.

But they can not longer be considered as Anglo-Indian literature.

Captain Hagberd has described as an eccentric person.

Captain Hagberd is suffering from the obsession for the betterment of his long lost son Harry.

His son Harry was only fourteen years old when he left home sixteen years ago.

Captain Hagberd's wife couldn't bear it and died in a shock.

Captain, after his retirement from some shipping company, was left without work instead of thinking over past incidents and scene.

The escape of his son and then death of his wife made a vacuum in his life which affected his mind very badly. He had an optimistic mood about future.

The first sign of his mental instability comes before us when he advertised for his son and because of a hoarse message, he sold all his property in Colchester and came to Colbrook (U.K.)

The second sign is when he tells his misery to the masses.

He collected many of things for Harry like seeds, fertilisers, carpet, paint and warmish.

(ii) The poem 'On Time' is a mystical and didactic poem, composed by John Milton.
It begins with:-

"Fly envious time till thou run out thy race."

The poet is describing about the time, when all the men are suffering from worldly vices.
There is no place for ~~from~~ humanity, love,
peace and ~~mercy~~ and truth.

It is the time when everyone appears corrupt. The poet wants the time to gallop all the bad things, vices and mortal dross.

He says:-

"The little gain of thou
The little lose of ours."

But poet has an optimistic mood towards bright future.

Poet hopes that this bad time would be finished and a bright time will come when beings will absolutely human.

Then Milton warns and give threat to bad time that we will overcome from your bad remembering.

"And we will triumph over death, over chance and over you the Time!"

So the central idea is explained. But in conclude poet wants a world where there is no trouble or worldly vices. He imagine a bright future.

Truth and Non-Violence
Need of the hour

Introduction :-

"The world is too much with us late and soon;
Getting and spending we let
waste our powers;
Little do we see in nature
that is ours;

We have given our heart
away, a sorbid boon"

- William Wordsworth.

It is rightly said by the poet. We are living in a world where there is no peace, no kindness, no heartfulness, no mercy no pity and no place for love. So what is the problem with us? The recent some decades have very unmeridible increasement in violence. What are the reasons for this.

2. Why do we need truth and Non-violence:-

"We have no time to stand and stare"

In all world, even in our country, India anybody can see the uncountable vices like corruption, cheat, rape, loot murder, violence, fire etc. which have been made a fear in common folk.

No one can understand and think oneself secure and safe.

A businessman has fear to be looted.
An advocate has fear to be murdered.
A customer fears from cheating, a girl has fear to be raped or eve-teasing.
No one is without fear.

This fear is not related to nature
but only from men.

Men are the enemies of men.

3. The impact of Truth and Non-violence:-

"We are not here to play,
to dream, to drift"

We have hard work to do
and load to be lifted, Shun not struggle
it is God's "gift"

There are many super power in world like America, China etc, which are able to rule over world.

But their tendency will led the world to Third world war. But this will be only destruction of this earth. So, we should make peace and non-violence. We are human being and can able to do everything.

So we must apply them in our daily life.

4. Conclusion:-

"Let grow knowledge from more to more
and more wisdom in us
will dwell;

For make our body and
soul proclaiming well;
May make one's song as before."

"The Importance of Books"
(By Lekha, a student)

Respected the chairperson, Honourable Principal, Worthy teachers and my dear friends,
today, I am going to speak something on 'the Importance of Books.'

Friends, A man is resembled by his company of friends. So thus books are also the friends of a man.
If a man reads good books, he is a good person.

But if he reads bad books, his thinking becomes worst.

Books play an important role in our life.

If we want to learn the ideas of great authors and poets, we should read their books.

Books are the sea of knowledge. The most they give us in our life. A good book reader is always satisfy with his thoughts and study.

We always think over many argues. Books give us a right direction for the path.

Shakespeare is the greatest author in English he had written:—

Cowards die many times before their death;

Valiant never taste the death
(but once;

This line gives us to play the role in our life very bravely.

Many feelings are hidden in books.

Books give us new joy and meanings for life.

By saying that I want to conclude my
